At the celebration of the 30th anniversary of Finlandia Foundation in 1983, founder Yrjö Paloheimo recalled its origins, beginning the story in World War II, “when the Finnish-Americans were united more than ever before, or after, in trying to help Finland.” As Field Secretary for the Help Finland organization, Paloheimo had traveled to Finnish-American communities in 1945-46 to assist with relief efforts. He learned that the young people were leaving the Finn Halls and churches, and distancing themselves from their Finnish roots as they gravitated to joining the American mainstream. “Everyone asked me to try to do something and to find a solution to the problem,” Paloheimo relayed.
Word from the President

Hyvät Ystävät:

Two very successful years are behind us: 2015 was the 150th anniversary of the birth of composer Jean Sibelius, who was the first Patron of FFN; and last year we celebrated the 100th year of Finnish Independence.

Our calendar included more than 500 events during these two years, with about 150 of them directly sponsored or supported by us. We are pleased to present a special insert in this newsletter describing many of the Finlandia Foundation and its chapters throughout 2017.

Finland 100 has carried over into 2018:

1. On March 13, the day that the Winter War ended in 1940, I was in Helsinki for the unveiling of a Winter War Memorial, Finlandia Foundation National among them. (More details on page 12 of this newsletter.)

2. FFN has selected two Lecturers of the Year for 2018-19. One of them is James Ford Cooper, who served at the U.S. Embassy in Helsinki twice, in the 1970s and 1980s. He is available to the FF chapters to talk about “Finland and the Cold War.” His experiences are summarized in his well-regarded book, On the Finland Watch.

In November of 2016, we organized a Joint Chapter Meeting to offer our (then) 52 affiliated organizations an opportunity to strengthen their events and improved communication among us.

We will continue to work with our chapters---now numbering 58---and help them to undertake their events based on their wishes for support. We will also examine our own priorities to be more responsive to their needs, and how we are perceived by the Finnish-American community at large.

One priority has already emerged: we will focus much more on the younger generations. An indication of this new focus is the membership of our newest chapter: the Finnish School of North Dakota, which joined FFN in March while we had our board meeting in Dallas. We have established a new board committee to examine how we will proceed, and to prepare an action plan for us.

We encourage a community approach in which all age groups work together to strengthen the Finnish-American community, which is claimed by some to be dying out. We are aware that there are many younger Finns who have moved to the U.S. over the past years. Our task is to bring them together and strengthen our existing organizations.

I wish you an enjoyable spring and summer ahead.

FFN Welcomes New Trustees

At the March board meeting in Dallas, Finlandia Foundation trustees elected Eeva Syvanen and Hilary-Joy Virtanen to three-year terms on the board.

Hilary-Joy Virtanen is a native of Toivola, in Michigan’s Upper Peninsula. As a child, her family moved frequently throughout the U.S., which allowed her to see American cultural diversity firsthand. It helped her to understand her Finnish ethnicity as, she says, “a unique square in a dazzling cultural patchwork quilt.”

Hilary-Joy holds a Master’s and Ph.D. in Scandinavian Studies from the University of Wisconsin-Madison; a Master’s in Folklore from Indiana University; and a BA in English and Anthropology from Michigan State University. As the assistant professor of Finnish & Nordic Studies at Finlandia University in Hancock, Michigan, she directs the academic program and teaches most of its classes.

As a researcher, Hilary-Joy focuses on festival culture and symbolic ethnic practices of Finns and Finnish-Americans. She is the assistant editor of the Journal of Finnish Studies and a member of the Finnish Theme Committee, Hancock’s FFN chapter, and served on the boards of the Michigan Oral History Association and the Copper Range Historical Society.

Hilary-Joy Syvanen

Hilary-Joy and her husband, Ron Stewart, live near Hancock with their three children: Alexander, Andrew and Anneli. She is honored to serve on the FFN board because of the immense support FFN has shown her as a student and researcher, and she looks forward to helping others through this work.

Eeva Syvanen was born and raised in Helsinki, and has been a resident of San Diego since 1994. She grew up in a very international environment, attending the French School of Helsinki and learning several languages. Eeva earned a Bachelor’s Degree in International Marketing at the Helsinki School of Economics before joining Finnair, where she was employed as a flight attendant for 16 years.

In San Diego, she first worked for the Finnish company Suunto for 10 years, and in 2010 started a career in real estate with Berkshire Hathaway. In the year 2000, Eeva was one of the founders of the Finnish School in San Diego; she served as its president for 15 years. She’s now in her second term as president of the House of Finland, the FFN chapter in San Diego.

Eeva says that her three adult sons were raised to be proud of their Finnish heritage, and all are fluent in the Finnish language, culture and customs, adding, “Finland is always in my heart!”
Lecturers of the Year Offer Diverse Programs

By Jon Saari
Trustee Emeritus

Frank W. Eld and James Ford Cooper, two writers with very different interests, have both been appointed Lecturers of the Year for 2018-19. They offer choice and variety to FFN chapter audiences.

Frank W. Eld has spent 50 years creating a museum to bring the bypassed town of Roseberry, Idaho back to life; his love of old log buildings, in particular, led to the research behind his book Finnish Log Construction — The Art (2013).

Frank crisscrossed the continent last year, putting on 17,500 miles while researching his next book, about Finnish-North American settlement and vernacular architecture. Many who have met him on his travels are looking forward to inviting him back for an entertaining talk about his findings.

James Ford Cooper spent a long career in the U.S. Foreign Service, with two postings in Finland during the Cold War, from 1976-1979 as Political Counselor, and 1984-1986 as Deputy Chief of Mission. His memoir of his life and work in Finland, On the Finland Watch (2000), is based on those years of observation and analysis.

Cooper recently summarized his insights into the complicated three-way relationship between Finland, the Soviet Union and the United States during the Cold War from 1945-1990 in his essay, “An Appreciation of Finland—On 100 Years of Independence.” It conveys warmth and respect. He is praised by Finnish Ambassador Jaakko Iloniemi for taking the time to learn Finnish, which opened up to Cooper deeper levels of Finnish culture and the complexities of its geographical neighborhood. (There is a link to his essay at his bio at FinlandiaFoundation.org/lectureroftheyear).

Finland in the Cold War and Finnish-American settlement and log buildings: Two LOY choices will be available from July 2018 through June 2019. FFN sponsors their travel to your location, and your chapter takes care of local arrangements, lodging and a $400 honorarium. Find more information about the LOY at the FFN website (FinlandiaFoundation.org). Contact LOY Coordinator Hilary-Joy Virtanen at hilary.virtanen@gmail.com to arrange a booking.

New POY
Juli Woods Sets Finnish Folk Songs to Jazz

By Betsey Norgard
Trustee and POY Coordinator

Finlandia Foundation National’s Performer of the Year for 2018-19 brings the haunting melodies of Finnish folk songs alive in jazz arrangements through her tenor saxophone. Juli Wood, of Chicago, has 20-plus years of jazz performance and recordings. She has played with the best of the Chicago jazz scene, traveled extensively to jazz clubs and festivals, and has begun to celebrate the music of her Finnish heritage.

All four of Wood’s grandparents immigrated from Ostrobothnia and ended up on Minnesota’s Iron Range and in Duluth in the early 20th century. Her parents, members of the Finnish American Society of Milwaukee, steeped her in Finnish heritage. She fell in love with Finland’s culture and countryside on her first trip there in 1977, following her high school graduation. Since the 1990s, she has returned to Finland nearly every summer, playing at venues such as the Pori Jazz Festival and legendary Storyville Jazz Club in Helsinki, as well as at other Nordic jazz festivals in Denmark and Sweden. This summer she will perform in Helsinki and Tampere.

In 2015 Wood recorded Synkkä Metsä (Dark Forest), a CD of Finnish folk songs. A jazz critic wrote that it “explores—with a cool restraint and crystalline clarity—the dark forest…of Finnish folk themes.” In September, she will research and perform another CD of Finnish folk songs, to be recorded with the support of a Finlandia Foundation grant.

Wood is excited to share music dear to her heart with FFN chapters as the POY, from September 1, 2018 through August 31, 2019. For information on hosting the POY, go to FinlandiaFoundation.org, or contact Betsey Norgard at norgard@paulbunyan.net. To learn more about Juli go to juliwoodsax.com; hear a selection from Synkkä Metsä at originarts.com/oa2/recording.php?TitleID=22121.
2018 Grant Funding Increases to $126,000

By Anita Smiley
FFN Trustee

Thanks to the generous supporters of Finlandia Foundation National and those who promote Finnish and Finnish-American culture in the United States and the many cultural projects between the U.S. and Finland, FFN is the most important source of support for Finnish culture in this country. The yearly awarding of grants is a major part of that support. It’s always a source of amazement to see the unique projects undertaken each year.

In 2018, there were 52 grant applications requesting a total of $213,063. It is with great pleasure that we announce a total distribution of $126,000 in grants to 43 applicants—19 of which were fully funded. Grant applications came from 15 states, Washington, D.C., Finland and Germany, with the largest number coming from California and Michigan. We extend sincere congratulations to all recipients.

We are pleased to note that all donations to Finlandia Foundation are used 100 percent toward funding programs such as grants and scholarships, due to the generosity of the Paloheimo Foundation, which provides funding for FFN operating costs. In addition, the Paloheimo Foundation matches the first $100,000 in donations each year.

FFN proudly supports the important work done by the grant recipients. As they pursue their endeavors, whether through crafts, music, scholarly works or a myriad of other ways, we are sharing our precious Finnish heritage with neighbors, friends and local communities. The 2018 Grants Committee, chaired by Richard Ahola, consists of Katarinna Lehtonen, Jon Saari, Anita Smiley and Paivi Tetri.

NOTE: In the following story, the numbered grants correspond to the numbered photos.

SUMMARY OF GRANTS
Grant awards fell into several specific categories and others were varied in nature.

Importing Finnish Innovation, Design and Culture to Montana’s Big Sky Country, submitted by Holly Truitt, director of the University of Montana Broader Impacts Group, was the grant receiving the highest scores from all committee members. The university, the City of Missoula and Finlandia Foundation of Montana collaborated in hosting a delegation from Espoo, Finland, on April 25 to engage Montanians with Finnish, with much energy.

Music

Finnish Folk Songs CD: As a follow up to jazz saxophonist Juli Wood’s recording Synkkä Metsä, funding is provided to create a second CD of Finnish folk songs performed in a jazz style by the Juli Wood Quartet. The CD will be recorded at Salolampi Language Village in Bemidji, Minnesota, where the group will also perform and conduct workshops.

1. Piae Cantiones—Old Music for Young Voices: Seattle Historical Arts for Kids (SHAK) will have a group of children ages 7-18 in historical costumes perform Piae Cantiones, a collection of songs compiled at the Turku Cathedral School in the 16th Century, and originally studied and performed by children.

Apprentice instrumentalists from SHAK’s Early Music Youth Academy join the band on harp, viola da gamba and Renaissance violin. Performances will take place in October 2018 in the Seattle area.

2. Seattle Symphony Concert: The FFN grant supports the Seattle Symphony orchestra and choral production of Sibelius’ Kullervo, led by Guest Conductor and Music Director Designate Thomas Dausgaard, May 31, June 2 and 3, 2018. Marcia Mannisto, a past FFN Performer of the Year, will be the soprano soloist.

3. The Bothnia Gospel 100 Choir Tour: A cooperative project of three mixed choirs in the Korsholm municipality of Finland, the musicians will tour in Finland and San Antonio, Texas, where they will perform four concerts and host workshops in July. One of the objectives is to develop and strengthen international activities through increased cooperation between choirs and professional artists.

Making Finnish Music Known: Mark Sedio of Saint Paul, Minnesota, will travel to Finland to meet with musicians, composers and Church of Finland representatives. He will attend Tuomasius services in the hopes of creating a similar service at Central Lutheran Church in Minneapolis, and will stay at the Valamo Orthodox Monastery to introduce that style of music tradition to the U.S.

Jepokryrdona on Tour: The female folk music group Jepokryrdona (Jeppo Spices), from Nykarleby on Finland’s west coast, will tour in the U.S. and Canada from June 14 to July 1, 2018. They sing and play folk music from their area, both Finnish and Swedish-Finnish, with much energy.

Finnish Piano Music of the Late 19th and Early 20th Centuries: Pianist Gail Olszewski plans to record a varied selection of solo pieces on an 1877 Böhm grand piano. Her goal is to reveal musical colors that are hard to achieve on a modern instrument, so others may hear the music on a piano with the sound the composer may have had in mind. She will also perform concerts.

Refurbish Boris Sirpo’s Personal Piano, Phase II: The 110-year-old Steinway piano of Maestro Boris Sirpo was donated to Nordic Northwest, and is in use at the Great Hall performance space at Nordia House in Portland, Oregon. Grant funds will be used to continue the refurbishing process.

4. Kantele Workshop by Evergreen Livakat
Kantele Ensemble: This kantele group in Bellevue, Washington, led by Satu Mikkola and mentored by kantele expert Wilho Saari, will hold a two-day workshop in September 2018 with musicians and instructors from Finland. Open to all kantele players, it will help them to improve their performance technique and skill, and to add to their kantele repertoire. Participants will perform a concert at the local Finnish Lutheran Church, increasing awareness of Finnish culture and this Finnish national instrument.

A Continuation of Juilliard-Sibelius Academy Collaboration: An eight-piece ensemble that is half from the Juilliard community and half from the Sibelius Academy will perform classical chamber music concerts at various venues on the East Coast, including at the Embassy of Finland in Washington, D.C. FFN grant funding will add general support for this cultural bridge.

By Holly Truitt, Director of the University of Montana Broader Impacts Group, was the grant receiving the highest scores from all committee members. The university, the City of Missoula and Finlandia Foundation of Montana collaborated in hosting a delegation from Espoo, Finland, on April 25 to engage Montanians with Finnish innovation, design and culture, and celebrate innovation and change-making in Missoula.
8. Helinkävä's 20th Anniversary Reunion: The City of Hancock's Finnish Theme Committee—Finlandia Foundation Copper Country Chapter plans to hold a 20th anniversary Helinkävä in January of 2019, bringing back two decades of individuals and groups who have participated and helped move this festival forward. It has grown from a one-day event to a month of celebration. Grant funding will help with travel and other expenses related to bringing participants to the festival.

House of Finland Vappu: The House of Finland in San Diego hosted a Balboa Park Lawn Program and Vappu Celebration on April 29. Every year the 34 International Cottages of Balboa Park each host a cultural event open to the public. Grant funding helped in providing Finnish food to visitors.

Traditions in Finnish-American Music in Lanesville: The Lanesville Community Center in Gloucester, Massachusetts developed a Finnish-American celebration held Sunday, May 13, 2018, at St. Paul Lutheran Church. This two-hour multi-media concert consisted of music performances, a backdrop of photographs and video footage, and story-telling, followed by a social hour with Finnish baked goods. The Cage Ann Flins, a new chapter of FFN, received funding for this joint effort in research and celebration of Finnish heritage.

Nordic Music Festival: The University of Wisconsin Oshkosh is sponsoring a weekend Nordic Music Festival in October of 2018, which will bring together community members, students and faculty to learn about and enjoy more than 20 years. All collected data will be preserved, stored and shared for further research purposes via Finnish Language Bank. Grant funding will help cover travel expenses for the interviews.

Scholarship Fund at Stanford University: Grant funding will help support a scholarship in memory of the late Finnish writer Dr. Ritva Heikkilä for a student in the Stanford Global Studies program. The scholar will undertake research that considers ways of improving cross-cultural understanding and evaluating the value of exchange between countries, with an emphasis on Finland and Pakistan.

Participation in USSEA/InSEA Regional Conference: Grant funding will help Oona Myllyntaus, a Ph.D. researcher and visual arts teacher at the University of Helsinki, participate in the United States Society for Education Through Art conference at Wichita State University in Kansas in July of 2018. The conference will provide her with new insights and knowledge for planning future courses in the arts, and allow her to connect with visual arts teachers in the U.S.

9. Juggling and Movement Research Residency: Luther Bangert, a traveling performer from New York City, received partial funding to participate in the “Back to Basics” juggling and movement research program at Arteles Creative Center in Hämeenkylä, Finland from August 2-31, 2018. The objective is to create a movement and juggling vocabulary inspired and enriched by the environment. The residency will culminate in a project.
10. Beast Tests: Grant recipient Marianna Milhorat will produce a short documentary film about Petosesti (Beast Tests), dog behavior events that tour Finland. During the event, dog behavior is tested against remote-controlled taxidermied bear, wolf, and lynx. Milhorat will examine Finns’ unique relationship with the outdoors and the increasingly complex and interconnected relationships between human and non-human nature. She has been invited to Serlachius Residency for the months of July and August of 2018, which will serve as a base for her filming.

11. Pelkie Documentary: Grant funding will enable research done by director Michael Loukinen to move to the next phase of creating a documentary about Finnish-American history and culture in Pelkie, Michigan. The grant will support video production and website promotion.

Steps of Perheentupa: Dr. Hanna Vastinsalo of Los Angeles directs a documentary about Finnish disease heritage, which is a unique collection of hereditary diseases. The film follows the origins of the research and the people whose lives have been changed by it. The goal for this documentary is to tell the story of a small country, whose rare diseases have helped to further knowledge about human genetics globally.

The Singer Who Changed Pop Culture: Funding will go towards screenwriter fees to write a biopic movie about a late Finnish pop singer. The story will be performed at Saima Park and other locations.

16. Homefarm Life, a Finnish Multimedia Cookbook Project: The author, Kristina Vantti, a culinary spokesperson, will travel from New York to her family’s dairy farm in Ilmajoki, Finland, in the summer of 2018 for research with Finnish artisans and food experts. The goal is to share Finnish food and culture through the story of one family farm. She aims to bring awareness to the incredible ingredients and unique recipes that can only be found in Finland, and will share her experiences in discussions on social media and a website. Grant funds will cover travel and material and equipment costs.

17. Opj 3 by Lauri Saukko: Funding will pay for the printing of 500 copies of Opj 3 Finnish language book, his follow-up to Opj 1 and Opj 2 Finnish language lessons. The books will be available for a $10 donation, and all proceeds go to the Salolampi Foundation Scholarship Fund.

18. Finnish-American Blog: Receiving funding to develop the recently rebuilt FinnFest USA is a traveling exhibit. Grant funding will pay for the translation work will be sought, and original handwritten texts digitized.

19. Anni Korpi to Anni Puttikka, Finland to USA: A collection of 38 published articles by Anni Puttikka will be compiled in a book by her daughter, Arlene Puttikka Tucker. These articles discuss Anni Puttikka’s childhood in Finland from 1928-1951, and life in America afterwards, from stories of growing up during the wars, making clothing woven from their sheep and the flax grown in their fields, milking dairy cows, and more. Translation work will be sought, and original handwritten texts digitized.

ABOUT FFN GRANTS

Each spring, the annual meeting of the FFN Board of Trustees consists of two intensive days of conducting the business of the organization. An additional day is included for the members of the Grants Committee to discuss and evaluate the applications which were submitted by the deadline date of January 17, 2018. This discussion followed the meticulous evaluation and scoring of each grant proposal by each committee member individually, prior to the meeting.

FFN invites submission of high-quality projects relating to the past, present or future of Finnish and Finnish-American culture. When submitting a grant application, it is important to note that grants are graded on a score sheet based on 11 criteria, each of which is assigned a point value. Any incomplete applications are not considered. All recipients agree to deliver a progress report in six months and a final report within one year.

The deadline for the next round of grants is January 17, 2019. Guidelines are available for review at the FFN website, FinlandiaFoundation.org.
FFN Recognized for War Monument Effort

By Ossi Rahkonen
FFN President

At Kasarmitori, Helsinki, at the square facing the Finnish Ministry of Defense, the Winter War Monument was unveiled on November 30, 2017, the anniversary of the day in 1939 that the fighting between Finland and the Soviet Union began.

The ceremony was a national event, with President Sauli Niinistö speaking, and former Finnish presidents Martti Ahtisaari and Tarja Halonen, as well as other leading persons in Finnish political life, in attendance. The Winter War was a decisive event in the struggle for Finnish independence; Finland could have fared similar fate as the Baltic countries.

Another ceremony took place at the monument on March 13, 2018, the anniversary of the day in 1940 that the war ended. I represented FFN at the Ministry of Defense, the Winter War Association spearheading the fundraising drive.

Major donors represent about 80% of the private funds raised, and the name of Finlandia Foundation National is listed among them. The Winter War Association had requested FFN’s help in fundraising in the U.S. We were successful in getting the Honorary Consuls of Finland in the U.S. and Canada to donate as a group, and were also able to inspire other major donations—one quite substantial—with stories appearing in the FFN newsletter.

The base of the monument is large, with sizable windows opening to the illuminated interior featuring a cavalcade of pictures of Winter War events. I encourage you to visit Kasarmitori and the monument when you are in Helsinki.

Monola Society Award

By Ossi Rahkonen
FFN President

The Monola Society of Finland has selected Finlandia Foundation National to receive the 2018 Monola Award, in recognition of the outstanding work that FFN has done in promotion of Finnish culture, especially the music of Jean Sibelius and heritage of Karevala in the United States.

Monola Society was established in Lieksa, Pielinen Karelia in 2015, the 150th anniversary of the birth of Sibelius. The objective of the society is to maintain, support and promote the heritage of Sibelius, Kalevala and Karelianism. The first and foremost objective of the society was to restore Jean and Aino Sibelius’ honeymoon destination, the Monola granary in Lieksa. The large-scale project was accomplished in cooperation with the National Board of Antiquities in 2016 and 2017, and opened for tourism in the summer of 2017.

FFN is pleased to accept this honor, and I will attend the award ceremony, which will take place on July 7, at the Brahe Hall in the Lieksa Cultural Center, on the last day of the week-long Monola Festival. The theme of the festival is Kalevala, honoring the 190th anniversary of creator Elias Lonnröth’s first poetry-collating trip to Pielinen Karelia and other places further east.

During the festival, Kalevi Jalkanen’s Kalevala themed composition will have its world premiere and the Lohja City Orchestra will perform Sibelius’ Kalevala orchestral music. Cellist Jussi Makkonen and pianist Nazig Azezian, who have delighted many FFN audiences here in the U.S., will also perform.
Ida Elina Concert Tour, April-May: Finnish kantele artist Ida Elina charmed audiences with her inventive, modern performance style on the ancient stringed instrument on her 10-city, inaugural U.S. concert tour. Her eclectic repertoire includes pop tunes as well as traditional music.

Women’s International Study Center Symposium, September 18: Former Finnish President Tarja Halonen and Icelandic business leader Hafna Tomásdóttir engaged a capacity crowd with their discussion about “Leadership Values in a Changing World,” at the New Museum History Museum in Santa Fe. Willa Seldon of the Bridgepan Group moderated the program. WISC is based in Santa Fe at Atsequa Madre House, which was the home of Eva Scott Fenyes, her daughter Leonora Curtin, and granddaughter Leonora Curtin, who was married to Finlandia Foundation founder Yrjö Palahimo.

Minnesota Orchestra Concert Celebrating Finland’s Centennial, September 22: Maestro Osmo Vänskä led an all-Finnish concert before an enthusiastic audience including Finland’s President Sauli Niinistö and his spouse Jenni Haukio, as well as many representatives of Finnish America attending FinnFest USA 2017. The Orchestra Hall program featured violinist Elina Vähälä and music by Aho, Koivisto and Sibelius, including an encore performance of Finlandia, with the audience waving small Finnish flags. The program was repeated the following evening.

Philharmonia Northwest Finland 100 Concert, November 4: The Seattle chamber orchestra led by Music Director Julie Tai performed music by Sibelius, Rautavaara and Saariaho at Benaroya Hall. A contestant in Maria Mäenpää, FFN Performer of the Year 2007, was the featured soloist.

The final of the six Finland 100 Signature Events was the program, “Changing the Game: Peacemaking in Turbulent Times,” in New York City on November 9. The Finland Centennial Forum honored Finland’s former President Martti Ahtisaari, founder of Crisis Management Initiative, and is described in the accompanying story by FFN President Ossi Rahkonen. (Find stories about the other five Signature Events in the Spring and Fall 2017, FFN newsletters.)

FINLAND 100 GRANTS TO CHAPTERS

inlandia Foundation National offered up to $1,000 in a Finland 100 grant to each of its 56 chapters to assist them in hosting at least one Finland 100 event in the calendar year 2017. We were pleased that 38 chapters requested funds to support 46 activities, from concerts to festivals, guest speakers and art exhibits. An estimated 9,000 people attended those events supported by FFN Finland 100 grants. (Unofficial numbers participated in the full range of activities throughout the year.

The chapter events were posted on the Finland 100 calendar at FinlandiaFoundation.org, along with other Finland 100 and Finnish-American community activities that were open to the public. At year’s end, there were nearly 300 events on the calendar.

FFN affiliates hosted many programs in addition to those that were supported by Finland 100 chapter grants. The Saartia and Columbia-Pacific (Portland) chapters were especially busy, with at least one activity each month. They not only planned their own activities, but actively partnered with other organizations and activities in their communities to expand the reach of Finland 100.

Here are some highlights of the year-long celebration at FFN chapters across the U.S.:

Finlandia Foundation
Columbia-Pacific Chapter
Under the direction of FPFC Finland 100 Chair Priya Schulbach, the Portland chapter produced a full range of activities in 2017 to ensure there was something for everyone on its Finland 100 calendar. From learning to cook traditional foods to the installation of a six-foot-tall monument made of granite from Finland, the volunteers of FPFC made lasting contributions to the Finnish-American community of the Portland area. A brochure neatly summarizes the activities.

FPFC wrapped up its year-long celebration with a Finland 100 Christmas dinner, a program honoring Finnish veterans, and dancing to Maria Mäenpää’s band at Nordia House in Portland, where a 100-year-old flag found in Vaasa, Finland graced the room. Honored guests were veterans of the Winter War Väinö Niinistö and Lempi Koskela at right, as well as Juha Tuominen.

A discussion followed, with panelists Frank Winter, ambassador and chairman of the board of American Friends of CMI; journalist and author Carl Bernstein; and social entrepreneur and producer Francis LeFrak. Moderator was New York Times reporter Somin Singh.

A musical Sibelius Inspiration interlude by Finnish cellist Jussi Makkonen and pianist Nazig Azesian was well received.

Finnish-American Society of the Delaware Valley and New Sweden Alliance, Wilmington, Delaware
The two FFN-affiliated organizations jointly hosted the December Y flaman (tirade) at the American Swedish History Museum in Philadelphia. The event was attended mostly toward members and friends of the Finnish and Swedish organizations in the Tri-State (Delaware, New Jersey and Pennsylvania) area. American Pojet, a brass band from Minnesota, performed, and Amti Väinäk, Deputy Chief of Mission at the Finnish Embassy in Washington, D.C., delivered remarks. The evening began with a pre-Christmas dinner, and a reception followed the concert.

Hancock Happenings
The Finnish American Heritage Center and Finlandia University in Hancock, Michigan organized two major events “in the heart of Finnish-America” during the Finland 100 year. Juhannus ’17, a three-day festival June 23-25, honored the centennials of Finland’s independence and Setter’s Co-op in Bruce Crossing, and the 125th anniversary of the town of Toivola.
Finland’s Ambassador to the U.S. Kirsti Kauppi was featured speaker, and StJu the Traveling Sauna popped up at various locations. There was a Tori [marketplace], Finnish Folk Music Camp, Juhannus kaklo at Agas Beach on Lake Superior, performances by the Kivajat Youth Folk Dancers, music by American Pojat, and a celebration of Finnish-American farm life at the preserved Hanko Finnish Homestead Museum in Akeley.
In December, as it has every year since 1917, Finlandia University celebrated Finland’s Independence Day. A Musical Salute to Finland 100 featured pianist Craig Randal Johnson, the Copper County Chorale and the Kuvajat Youth Folk Dancers.
Big Greetings from the U.S. to Finland
As part of its Finland 100 celebrations, the Finlandia University Finnish Council in America in Hancock created a gigantic Centennial Greetings Finland! card that was sent to the people of Finland and President Sauli Niinistö. The project was a team effort that involved gathering 1914 signatures at more than a dozen events in Michigan, and at FinnFest USA 2017 in Minneapolis.
David Savolainen conceived the project, which was designed by John Kiltinen. Linda Berry, Pauline Kiltinen and Judy Quirk assembled the accordion-folded card, designed by John Kiltinen.

FFN Scholarships

Students pursuing a variety of degrees at universities in the U.S. and Finland were selected to receive scholarships totaling $135,000. Of the 12 recipients, two are U.S. citizens, two are Finnish, and eight are dual nationals.

1. BENJAMIN ALDRITT is a first-year Ph.D. student in Engineering Physics in the Department of Applied Physics at Aalto University. He arrived in Finland in 2010 on a Fulbright student grant and now focuses on fabricating and understanding structures at the atomic scale. By combining experimental physics with machine learning methods, it will be possible to better understand the complexity of the world around us. Prior to his doctoral studies, Benjamin received his Master’s Degree in Engineering Physics at Aalto University. In his free time, he is learning Finnish, rock climbing and running marathons.

2. FRANZ CARD is pursuing a Master’s Degree in Mechanical Engineering with a focus on mechatronics at Aalto University in Finland. Although he has lived most of his life in the U.S. and received his Bachelor’s Degree from the Pennsylvania State University, he wanted to experience life in Finland and the transition period between bachelor’s to master’s studies. Franz has been a competitive gymnast for 18 years, and currently competes for the Finnish National Team. Last year, he competed at the 2017 World Championships in Montreal, and is now training for the 2020 Olympics.

3. SETH DAHL is enrolled in Finlandia University’s Finnish and Nordic Studies program, where his undergraduate degree work focuses on Finnish language and history, Finnish-American folk traditions, and anthropology. He is studying the Finnish and Northern Sami languages, and intends to pursue a graduate degree in linguistics. Seth works as a research assistant for an upcoming Finnish-American Heritage Center exhibition, “Copper Country Voices of Dissent in the Great War.” He hopes to study Finnish as a second language in Finland next year between semesters, and eventually pursue his master’s degree in Finland; he plans to work with language revitalization programs. Seth enjoys listening to Finnish music and recently took a Finnish folk dance class.

4. RUUT DEMEO is a Finnish author, composer and lyricist whose composition credits include music in film and TV in the United States and Canada. She is currently studying composition and creative writing in Baltimore, and plans to create content for young audiences that is inspired by Nordic American folk traditions, and anthropology. He is studying the Finnish and Northern Sami languages, and intends to pursue a graduate degree in linguistics. Seth works as a research assistant for an upcoming Finnish-American Heritage Center exhibition, “Copper Country Voices of Dissent in the Great War.” He hopes to study Finnish as a second language in Finland next year between semesters, and eventually pursue his master’s degree in Finland; he plans to work with language revitalization programs. Seth enjoys listening to Finnish music and recently took a Finnish folk dance class.

5. MARKUS HUKKA is third-year student at the University of Washington with a dual major in Aquatic Fisheries Sciences and Finnish, and a minor in Marine Biology. He is also a First Year Interest Group leader, and teaches a small class of incoming freshmen how to navigate the vast UW campus and help them succeed in their first year in college. With this scholarship, Markus is able to finalize a trip to Finland this summer to see beautiful Finnish summers with her sister and grandparents.

6. UWA IDOUZEE is a photojournalist and documentary filmmaker based in Finland who recently returned from a two-week photo assignment in Nigeria. He studied photojournalism at the University of Tampere and now works for the Finnish Broadcasting Company YLE. Uwa is entering the Documentary Media Studies Graduate Certificate program at The New School in New York City. The intensive, one-year curriculum is designed to deepen students’ knowledge in the production, theory and art of documentary film.

7. LAURA KIHLMSTROM is a Finnish native pursuing a dual degree at the University of South Florida in Tampa. She expects to graduate in May 2021 with a Ph.D. in cultural anthropology and Master of Public Health Degree in Maternal and Child Health. Laura is broadly interested in immigrant health, specifically the ways in which eating practices and food are connected to the health and well-being of non-native groups in the U.S. In her research, she asks questions such as: “Why do we eat what we eat?” and “How do immigrants position themselves in American society?” She has been involved in research studies related to food insecurity and hunger in Florida, and has presented her research at national conferences. In Finland, she co-authored a book on global food security and published dozens of columns and expert pieces related to food and agriculture.

8. AINO LARSEN is the Scandinavian Program language and internship coordinator and Finnish instructor at Brigham Young University. She is also associate director of an educational organization that takes teachers and administrators on professional development tours to Finland and elsewhere in search of innovative methods. Aino is pursuing a graduate degree in Education: Innovation and Change, in 2018-2019 at the University of Leicester. A native of Finland, she is interested in the Finnish education system and discovering practical ways to implement lessons learned there. For several years she has been making Scandinavian connections in the Rocky Mountains and promoting cross-Atlantic educational exchange. She is the activity chair of the FFN Utah chapter, and single mother of three school-aged children.

9. SAARA MAHBOUSA is a first generation American, born and raised in the U.S. with Finnish and Iraqi parents; she has strong ties to her Finnish heritage. She is an artist with a background in art history from New York University, and work experience with galleries and art-based non-government organizations. She recently moved to Helsinki to pursue her Master’s Degree in Visual Culture and Contemporary Art at Aalto University. Her work centers around the intersection of identity formation, social migration, theory and visual culture.

10. KATIA NAGABA is an artist and actor. She is a member of The Dramatists Guild of America, SAG-AFTRA, and Actors’ Equity Association. She is an award-winning playwright who has lived in Helsinki. Her thesis play focuses on themes of immigration, cross-cultural exchange, and the search for a sense of “home.” She is an award-winning playwright who worked for many years in New York City as a theatre director and actor. She is a member of The Dramatists Guild of America, SAG-AFTRA, and Actors’ Equity Association.

11. NATHALIE RITA is a doctoral student in sociology at the University of Hawaii, where her research focuses on globalization and international migration. Born in Hämeenlinna, Finland, she was raised in the United States but says she was lucky to spend every summer of her childhood enjoying the beautiful Finnish summers with her sister and grandparents.

Finlandia Foundation Columbia-Pacific Chapter

In honor of the 100th anniversary of Finland’s independence from Russia, the Finnish Independence Monument was unveiled Saturday, January 6, 2018 at Nordia House in Portland, Oregon. The six-foot, 2,200-pound piece of Finnish granite bears the Finnish Coat of Arms and the words “Independent Finland” in Finnish, Swedish and English.

Katariina Lehtonen, a founding member and current vice president of Finlandia Foundation Columbia-Pacific Chapter (FFCPC), and trustee of Finlandia Foundation National, conceived the project and was instrumental in it becoming a reality. FFCPC, the Finnish American Historical Society of the West, the Finnish Messiah Lutheran Church and members of the Finnish-American community were sponsors of the impressive tribute. Finlandia Sauna Products of Tigard, Oregon, provided immeasurable support.

Book It with FFN

Each member of FFN is entitled to receive a copy of the book that details the history of Finlandia Foundation, Black Ties and Miners’ Boots: Inventing Finnish-American Philanthropy. Jon L. Saari, a historian and Northern Michigan University professor emeritus, researched and wrote the book.

Chapter chairs have received copies to distribute. It’s also available to purchase at FinlandiaFoundation.org or contact Maria Kizirian at FFN: office@finlandiafoundation.org, or call 626.795.2081.

1. The Finnish-American Society of the Midwest hosted Centenary Lecturer Tom DuBois, who spoke on “The Kalevala and its meaning in Finnish culture over the past 100 years.” The March 4 program at Estonian House included music by soprano Anne Illi and the Sibelius Male Chorus.

2. Sharon Franklin-Rahkonen visits with an audience member at the Holocaust Memorial Center in Farmington Hills, Michigan, where she spoke about the Jews in Finland before and during World War II. Despite the country’s alliance with Nazi Germany, Finland largely protected its Jewish population from the Holocaust. The Associate Professor of History at Indiana University of Pennsylvania is also one of the FFN Centenary Lecturers.

3. Ambassador of Finland to the U.S. KIRSTI KAUPPI (second from right) was guest speaker at the the February meeting of Finlandia Foundation Florida. In attendance were (from left) Barry Heinluoma, president of The Finnish Heritage Society-Sovittaja, Kaarina Langeland, president of FF Florida Chapter, and Ossi Rahkonen, President Ossi Rahkonen. During her visit to Lake Worth and Palm Beach, Ambassador Kauppi also spoke at Finland House and met with the senior residents of the Finnish American Village.

4. At the dedication of the Finnish Independence Monument at Nordia House in Portland, guests were invited to honor someone by placing a white rose at its base. Katariina Lehtonen, vice president of the Finlandia Foundation Columbia-Pacific Chapter, spearheaded the monument project.
Welcome!

Sara Pajunen and Rachael Kilgour. In May, CAF co-sponsored with the Lanesville Community Center “Traditions of Finnish-American Music.” It includes a display and multi-media presentation created with instruments, music memorabilia, stories, recollections and photographs donated by CAF members. At the same time, a designer is building the organization’s website, and members are conducting oral interviews of elderly Finns. We are pleased to join the national effort giving voice to our proud Finnish roots and Finnish imprint in America.

FF National Capital Chapter Mourns Loss

In recognition of the importance of the Finland 100 year in 2017, FFN took a unique approach to its Lecturer of the Year program with a slate of five Centenary Lecturers, each a scholar on a different topic related to Finland’s national independence and identity. The Centenary Lecturers—Thomas DuBois, Sharon Franklin-Rahkonen, Peter MacKeith, Kizirian at FFN: office@finlandiafoundation.org or call 626.795.2081. The cost of the DVD is $10 plus shipping and handling. To order a copy, contact Maria Kizirian at FFN: office@finlandiafoundation.org or call 626.795.2081.

Lecturers on DVD

To his 90 years, Per Erkki “Erik” Lindstrom traveled far, from his birthplace in Tenala, Finland, to building a business in Virginia, and creating a signature feature of the acclaimed Embassy of Finland building in Washington, D.C. A founding member of the Finlandia Foundation National Capital Chapter, he passed away in October of 2017. Erik was the youngest of Isak Edvard and Linnea Lindstrom’s 10 children. After serving in the Finnish army, the master mechanic came to America in 1951 and served two years in the United States Army. He became a U.S. citizen in 1954, and a decade later launched his company, Saunas by Erkki. “Finland’s own authentic sauna builder” designed and constructed hundreds of saunas, including the one in the Embassy.

In addition to FNCC, he was a founding member of the Port Tobacco River Conservancy. At First Baptist Church of Welcome, he was known for singing Silent Night in Swedish at Christmas time. Because of his experience in an orphanage as a child, he supported the charity Christmas Shoe Box, Operation Christmas Child, so that children will get something for Christmas. Erik is survived by Alice, his wife of 62 years, two daughters, Nancy Cantrell (Bill) and Lauras Snell (Woody), and two grandchildren. He was preceded in death by his grandson.

Borje Vähämäki and K. Marianne Wargelin—came together for one joint presentation, “Independent Finland: A North American Perspective,” at FinnFestUSA 2017 in Minneapolis. That entertaining and informative program is available online at FinlandiaFoundation.org and on DVD to borrow or purchase from the FFN office.

Northern Michigan University Professor Emeritus Jon Saari, who chaired the Lecturer of the Year program, moderated the Centennial Lecture. He summarizes it as, “Five scholars and three large questions created fifteen, four-minute reflections, three by each scholar. Each reflection flows from a single iconic image chosen by the scholar. Image, words, four minutes. No more. No less. Within the constraints of this framework, our scholars pulled together a mosaic of the story of independent Finland. May it be a lasting tribute to contemporary Finland as seen from the North American Finnish diaspora.”

The 94-minute video would make a great addition to a library and as a program at a chapter gathering. The cost of the DVD is $10 plus shipping and handling. To order a copy, contact Maria Kizirian at FFN: office@finlandiafoundation.org or call 626.795.2081.

Cape Ann Finns Acting President

Cape Ann Finns was formed in the fall of 2017 when a group of six Finns from Rockport and Gloucester, Massachusetts, saw the need to preserve the rich heritage of their early Finnish community by creating, from member contributions, an online record of Finnish life, especially older Finns who remember their immigrant forebears. FFN trustee Anita Smiley spoke about the benefits of FFN affiliation; sharing the Finnish story on Cape Ann includes a display and multi-media presentation.

At two gathering events in March, the newly organized Cape Ann Finns called on residents to share materials and memories to create a display and multi-media presentation.

Welcome!

FFN welcomes Cape Ann Finns and the Finnish Language School of North Texas as the newest organizations to affiliate with Finlandia Foundation. We now have 58 chapters in 25 states and Washington, D.C.

A story about the new chapter in Texas will appear in the FFN Fall News.

jon saari departs ffn board

After 19 years of volunteer service to Finlandia Foundation, Trustee Jon Saari has stepped down from the FFN board. He plans to devote time to personal projects of his own and jointly with his wife Christine, an artist and writer, both at home in Marquette, Michigan, and at her family’s homestead in Austria.

Among his many contributions to FFN, Jon researched and wrote its history, Black Ties and Miners’ Boots: Inventing Finnish-American Philanthropy, for Finlandia Foundation’s 50th anniversary in 2003. He also produced the second edition in 2010.

Jon coordinated the Lecturer of the Year program, and was responsible for selecting presenters who not only offered expertise on topical subjects related to Finland and Finnish America, but were able to share their material in an engaging way to FFN chapters across the U.S.

A historian and Northern Michigan University professor emeritus, Jon brought valuable insights and broad perspective to each FFN board meeting, as the trustees reviewed existing and proposed programs and activities in the context of Finlandia Foundation’s mission, goals and future.

“Jon’s astute and carefully-considered observations were always appreciated,” says FFN President Ossi Rahkonen. “We’ll miss his thoughtful input and thank him, and wish him, Christine and their family all the best.”

also at the 60th anniversary event, FFN Past President and Trustee Emeritus John Laine said that he sees America not as a melting pot but a mosaic in which Finland is a blue tile. “Keep that blue tile shining,” he encouraged. “Please keep that blue tile sparkling.”

At the Joint Chapter Meeting in November of 2016 in Washington, D.C., Ambassador of Finland to the U.S. Kirsti Kauppi expressed appreciation, saying, “We are grateful for the work you do and the interest you show in both Finnish America and Finland.”

Finland’s President Sauli Niinistö, at FinnFest USA 2017 in Minneapolis, also recognized the efforts of Finlandia Foundation National. “In Finland we highly respect American Finnish people and notice this feeling is mutual. We are very proud that Finnish-Americans want to have a connection to Finland,” he said, adding droopily, “If even more than sometimes we do in Finland.”

“It is the role and responsibility of Finlandia Foundation to build on the base laid by the founders in 1953,” says FFN President Ossi Rahkonen. “In many ways, our challenges are the same as they were 65 years ago, with subsequent generations ever further from their roots.”

At the same time, we recognize the opportunities of our changing population, and are actively looking for innovative ways to strengthen the Finnish-American community to ensure its vitality for generations to come.”

FFN Thanks You for Finland 100 Fundraising Success

By Tim Nurula

FFN Trustee and Fundraising Chair

In this past Finland 100 centennial year, Finlandia Foundation National was able to achieve a fundraising success and support five Lectures of the Year, a Performer of the Year, Soiva Music Camp, and a series of cash rewards of grants and scholarships. Furthermore, for the first time in our 65-year history, we were able to provide approximately $100,000 to 14 chapters to help support their Finland 100 celebrations.

All of this was achieved thanks to the support of nearly 200 donors nationally who helped us raise $24,100 this year. Those donations were matched by a $100,000 gift from the Palhoemo Foundation, which brought our grand total to $224,000.

Finlandia Foundation is grateful to everyone who supported our efforts in this important centennial year. In the true spirit of this special year, nearly 100 people (almost half of all the donors) stretched their giving to make gifts of $100 in honor of Finland’s 100th anniversary.

We are proud of our success this year, but our long-term success has been even better. With your support and sound investments, we have increased our endowment by over $1 million over the past five years, while giving away more than $1 million in grants, scholarships and program support.

Finlandia Foundation donors should feel confident that their investment in our organization is used to effectively and impactfully celebrate and promote Finnish culture here in the United States. With your continued support, we’ll be able to make this success even bigger and do a lot more.

Kitos paljon - Thank you!
